1. What advantages do Excel spreadsheets have over CSV spreadsheets?

Sol. In Excel, spreadsheets can have values of data types other than strings; cells can have different fonts, sizes, or color settings; cells can have varying widths and heights; adjacent cells can be merged; and you can embed images and charts

2. To construct reader and writer artefacts, what do you pass to csv.reader() and csv.writer()?

Sol. Pass file_object

With open("harry.csv") as file_object:

3. In what modes can File artefacts for readers and writers be opened?

Sol. For reader 'rb' mode

For writer 'rw' mode

4. Which method outputs a CSV file from a list argument?

Sol. writerow

5. What do the keyword arguments delimiter and lineterminator do?

Sol. Delimiter: changes the string used to seperate two elements in a row

Lineterminator: changes string used to seperate two rows

6. What function returns a Python data structure from a string of JSON data?

Sol. json.loads()

7. What function returns a string of JSON data from a Python data structure?

Sol. json.dumps()